

Lynne ChandlerDigital Program Director

Lynne Chandler is the Digital Program Director at Ginnie Mae responsible for a range of policy and technical aspects for the program. She also is Deputy Assistant General Counsel in the Office of General Counsel, Finance Division within the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Lynne has more than 15 years of experience in mortgage securitization and government regulatory compliance. Lynne has spearheaded the legal development of Ginnie Mae's Digital Mortgage Program and assisted in drafting digital policies in Ginnie Mae's eGuide.

Widely recognized as an expert within the mortgage and legal industry, Lynne as has presented frequently on topics surrounding Digital Mortgages and Document Custody.

Lynne graduated with honors from Johns Hopkins University with a degree in Political Science and History. She received her Juris Doctor from Emory University School of Law, where she also served as President of the Public Interest Committee. Prior to law school, Lynne served on the staff of Senator Paul Sarbanes.

